Big Demonstrations Follow Nomination Speeches at Chicago

Current Reports Indicates Agreement Has Been Reached--Hughes and Johnson Rumored as Re-united Party

SITUATION DECLARED HOPELESS TODAY

Chicago, June 9.—(By United Press)—Both the Republicans and the Progressives got the third day session of their respective conventions under way before noon today. There was no appearance of harmony. Many reports were current to indicate that some agreement may have been reached by the conference committees but it was certain they were not agreed on Roosevelt. One rumor was that Hughes for president and Hiram Johnson for vice president with Roosevelt's endorsement would be jammed through both conventions. This was belied by the attitude of the Progressive radicals. They were champing at the bit.

Immediately after the call to order they began consideration of a platform without awaiting the conference report. "Nominate Roosevelt as soon as we can," was the cry of some of them going to the convention. Others said the situation was hopeless and the best they could expect was a "dicker." Republicans expected to begin balloting late this afternoon after nomination of many favorite sons.

Weeks, Cummins, Fairbanks, Brumbaugh, Sherman and others were put forth by their respective supporters in a series of flowery speeches that put a night blooming cereus in the parsnip class. The Republicans planned to began balloting at about four o'clock. It was rumored that two ballots would be taken and the adjournment until tomorrow. Earlier reports and "Old Guard" belief is that unless Hughes is nominated on the second ballot he will not be nominated at all.

Indications of a deadlock were unquestionable.

Roosevelt's name was loudly cheered by the galleries and scattering applause among the delegates when Senator Smoot reported for the conference committee for the Republicans that the Progressives thought Colonel Roosevelt should be nominated. At the same time there was cheering when Chairman Perkins reported for the Progressive conference committee. Just a moment before Perkins came in a direct attack on the underseas policy of foreign powers was incorporated in the Progressive platform. Then chairman called for nominations.

Governor Whitman was recognized to nominate Hughes. Alabama had passed. Alaska passed and Arizona has submitted to New York. Mention of Taft brought the house to its feet for the first time in a great demonstration in which hats were waved. It lasted several minutes. Senator Smoot's report was received with deep attention but little enthusiasm. The convention went right to nominating. The Progressive committee reported a "friendly" conference but not agreement. At the name of Brumbaugh demonstrations did not come up to the expectations of his supporters. It lasted only a few minutes.

Allies Claim Majority

Hughes must be nominated on the second ballot or her cannot survive according to the belief of the "favorite sons" today. The first ballot will be more or less prefunctory, the allies claiming to hold the balance of power, 587 votes. Hughes is expected to get between 175 and 200 votes on this ballot and then will come the real fighting.

At the end of the first ballot 100 delegates will be released from voting for their favorite sons. Hughes' failure to land this strength, and the allies think this inevitable, the allies are then expected to try out several of their particular favorites, Sherman, Fairbanks and Weeks, while managers of Burton, Cummins, and other favorite sons declined to speak on the possibilty of this, it was understood that such an arrangement had been agreed upon.

The Burton crowd will try as early as the second ballot to divert some of the released delegates to the Ohioan and may make a determined effort on the third ballot at least for a strong support. Sherman's tactics in the fray the not known. He has been making a strong campaign and one which his managers say is beginning to show its effect.

T. R. May Turn to Root

Among the favorite sons it is freely admitted that things have been changed with the naming of peace candidate. Colonel Roosevelt, owing to his knowledge of Root's strong position on Americanism and preparedness, may turn his efforts to nominating the New Yorker. The allies believe balloting may begin at four o'clock this afternoon.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 9.—Colonel Roosevelt today told the newspaper correspondents, "I can see no change in the situation which will call me to Chicago." He is still keeping in touch with the situation.

Coliseum, Chicago, June 9.—Delegate Leon Weinberg of Maryland announced shortly before the convention met this afternoon that he would attempt to introduce a resolution inviting Colonel Roosevelt to come to Chicago and address it. This was the plan suggested by National Committeeman Jackson, of Maryland, to which Roosevelt replied yesterday.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, one of the Republican peace conferees received a wild ovation and was asked to make a speech when he arrived at the auditorium this afternoon. "I am here to get a little inspiration," said Borah. "I have not left the Republican party and I am not here in any official capacity." Borah took the platform and was greeted with cries of "Now come on home Bill!"

After the nomination of Hughes there was a demonstration for Hughes lasting twenty minutes. Then President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia university, put for nomination the name of Elihu Root. The Root demonstration laster fourteen minutes. Senator Burton's name was next put in for nomination and a Burton demonstration began which is now on.

The Progressives have recessed until three o'clock.

Hughes Still Silent.

Washington, June 9.—(By United Press)—Justice Hughes refused absolutely to see anyone or to authorize any kind of statement from his secretary this afternoon. When the latter was informed by telephone that the Justice's name had been put in nomination at Chicago by Governor Whitman. "Justice Hughes has nothing to say," said the secretary.

"Does he know he has been nominated?"

"Yes, "I told him," replied Greene. "He has nothing to say and will have nothing to say, as I told you yesterday, until he is nominated by the convention."

"Then he will speak if he is nominated?"

"I don't know."

Hughes was in his library just having finished lunch when he was told of Governor Whitman's action.

AMERICANS GIVE VERDICT IN THE ARMENIAN QUESTION

Press Reports Are Totally Unjust to the Turks

(Written for United Press)

Constantinople, May 9.—(By Mail)—The American people have given their verdict in the Armenian question without hearing the Turkish side.

Consequently, there are in the American press and public opinion ideas totally unjust to the Turks.

In order to understand the situation rightly, one has to know, first of all, that historically the Turks were the most humane conquering race imaginable.

At a time when they had every opportunity of assimilating the conquered races by force, they gave them freedom of religion, language, and free community organization.

Had the Turks behaved as the Spaniards have against dissenters in religion or race, there would be no Armenians and no Armenian question today.

After the Youn-Turkish revolution in 1908, the Christians acquired absolute equality with the Turks.

Their revolutionary activity under the reign of the former Sultan was ascribed to their desire for equal rights of citizenship. It soon became clear that they thought of equal rights only as a means to the end of a national independent existence.

Instead of taking advantage of the new opportunity they had to become lawful Ottoman citizens, they established secret societies, made a large revolutionary organization in the country and distributed arms and bombs among their members.

The first duty of every state is to insure its independence. Therefore, Turkey had to resort to all the necessary measures for this important end.

Among the non-Turkish races the Armenians were the nearest to the Turks in regard to their spoken language and social habits.

Several decades ago, when they had not yet begun their revolutionary activity, they enjoyed the full confidence of the Turks, and they were always called by the Turkish press "our faithful fellow-citizens, the Armenians."

In abusing the confidence of the Turks, the Armenians went further than the other Christian races.

Especially, during the present war, they did not shrink from open treason, and tried to endanger from within the existence of their country, which was engaged in a fight for life or death at four different fronts, with powerful enemies, and caused the new Armenian troubles.

Lone Robber Attempts Hold-Up Of Curwensville National Bank; Paying Teller Hoover Injured

Walks Into Bank at Noon Hour, Armed With Two Revolvers---Loses Nerve And Fails to Get Money

PLUCKY BOY ASSISTS IN MAN'S CAPTURE

Armed with two revolvers, one of them an automatic, and with his face blackened with soot, H. L. Downing, of Tyrone, walked boldly into the Curwensville National bank shortly after noon today and in a bungling attempt at a hold-up shot Paying Teller H. M. Hoover in the face. Downing fled when the shot was fired, and was captured a few moments later by Deputy Sheriff Chaplin and Guy Clark son of the chief of police of Curwensville.

Downing attempted his hold-up at an hour when normally there would have been no one but the bank attaches in the building. Today, however, there were two persons in the lobby, a colored woman and a boy. President Russell was in his private office to the right of the entrance, conversing with a friends and Cashier Hile and Teller Hoover behind the grating.

Downing crowded by the woman and the boy, pushed open the door leading behind the counter, and levelled both revolvers at Hile, who was standing across the room in front of the vault. Not a word was uttered by the would-be hold-up man. Hile turned toward him and demanded to know what he meant, moving toward the robber. Downing made no effort to fire at Hile, who grappled with him and attempted to wrest the revolvers from his grasp. Hoover joined in the struggle, and siezed one of Downing's wrists, turning the point of the revolver upward. It was then that Downing cut loose at Hoover the ball striking him at the corner of the mouth and ripping open his cheek.

As soon as the shot was fired Downing broke from Hile and Hoover and ran out of the building and around the corner. Guy Clark witnessed his flight from a store across the street, and immediately set out after Downing, commanding him to stop.

Downing turned and menaced Clark with his revolvers, whereupon Clark fired at him, and in the chase which followed he emptied his gun at Downing. Downing directed his way toward the Pennsylvania station, where he ran full tilt into Deputy Sheriff Chaplin, who was waiting for a train.

Chaplin took in the situation, and commanded Downing to halt. Instead of obeying Downing turned his gun on Chaplin. Clark run up then, and cried to Downing "stop Jack, I'm going to let you have it."

Hemmed in, Downing slowly lowered his revolvers, and while Chaplin covered him Clark took the weapons away from him. He was then marched to the borough lockup, where a little soap and water revealed him as a white man.

Downing declares that he was alone in the hold-up, but the police and others believe the job to have been the work of an automobile party of four which was seen to enter the town immediately preceding the hold-up. The machine came up from Clearfield, and was occupied by four men clad in caps and linen dusters, as if equipped for a long tour.

As soon as it turned the church corner on the road to DuBois the machine slowed up, and it is believed that Downing alighted at the corner near the Pennsylvania tracks, put on his make-up, and approached the bank through an alley running thru the center of the block. He was seen by the telephone operator making his way through the alley, and the machine disappeared from view.

Downing is a heavy set, florid faced man of about thirty-eight or forty. He was roughly dressed in woods men's boots, a flannel shirt and dark trousers, which showed signs of wear. He declares that the name he gave the police is his right name, and that he has a wife and several children living in Tyrone. Inquiry there this afternoon failed to locate anyone who knew the man.

Sheriff McCloskey and Chief of Police McHenry rushed to Curwensville a few minutes after the hold-up. The sheriff immediately took up the trail of the mysterious touring car, and had not been heard from at press time. He went toward DuBois in which direction the machine is supposed to have gone.

Downing will be brought to the county jail this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Chaplin, where he will be held for trial on the charge of robbery. In the lockup this afternoon he broke down and sobbed violently crying out that he was sorry for the man he shot.

Mr. Hoover is not believed to be seriously wounded, although the bullet has not yet been located. Five teeth were knocked out, and his face badly lacerated. Later in the afternoon Mr. Hoover was removed to the Clearfield hospital.

Several Candidates Spend Large Sums in Primary

The candidates at the May primaries have been busy for the past several days filing their expense accounts encountered in the campaigning. Some of the candidates spent cosiderable money, while others got through with less than fifty dollars. One of the accounts of interest was that of R. B. GRAND AWARDS AWAITS THE WINNERS

ORATORICAL GOLD MEDAL CONTEST IS LARGELY ATTENDED

Osceola Boy Is Awarded Medal From W.C.T.U. For Prize Oration On Temperance

Seven Contestants Compete for Prize At Presbyterian Church Last Evening—Rev. McCurdy Makes Presentation Speech.

There was a very good attendance at the Presbyterian church last evening to hear the Oratorical Gold Medal contest which was conducted by Mrs. F. H. McCully of Osceola, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The contest was one of the best ever held in the county and the orations were far above the average, the seven contestants deserving a great deal of honor for the splendid manner in which they delivered their speeches and handled their subjects.

The meeting opened with singing of America by the congregation and prayer by Rev. B. J. Hummel of the United Brethren church which was followed by "The Slumber Song" most beautifully rendered by Mrs. E. C. Reeve, Mrs. E. E. Jimeson, Miss Lois Denning and Miss Anna Norris. Mrs. McCully then read selections apropos to the subject of temperance from the scriptures.

The seven contestants who were all from Osceola excepting Bernard Caldwell who was from Lumber City, then gave most interesting and at intervals very pathetic recitals which were delivered in fine style and which held the close attention of the entire audience with the vigor and earnestness of their oratory.

Bernard Caldwell was the first contestant to speak, taking as his subject the "Resubmissionists Story" which was a sad tale of the death of a son who had been misled by wrong advice and example of a drunken father. "The Liquor Traffic Should be Outlawed" by Philip C. Hall treated the legal side of the temperance question and gave reasons for legislation stopping the traffic.

"Prohibition and Personal Liberty" by Herbert Glasco, "official Anarchy" by Harry Mattern, "In the Shadows of the Mountains" by James Scott and "America's War Cry" by Howard Reams were all well delivered and contained very strong arguments in favor of the elimination of the liquor traffic.

"The Man of the Hour" by Paul Mattern was awarded the Gold Medal by the judges, Rev. Allenbach, Matthew Savage and B. M. Fast. Mr. Mattern brought most forcibly to the appreciative audience what is meant by "The Man of the Hour." The medal

The big race is on. The real battle of the ballots in the Progress great automobile contest is now starting. For the first time in the history of journalistic enterprises in Clearfield, or in fact in this section of the state, a fine five passenger touring car, a $400 upright piano, three standard cabinet Victrolas and a number of other attractive and valuable prizes hang in the balance to be won without cost by the popular individuals who have entered or who are yet to enter this high class event.

The value of the prizes offered by the Progress in this public spirited enterprise that is now getting under way is $1,400.00. That is a pile of money but all of this amount represented by the prizes named is to be distributed to those who take part in the campaign and the winners of these awards are to be named by their friends as stated in the recent issues of the Progress.

How to Win.

"What must I do to win the automobile or any of the other prizes?" Such is the question that has been asked the contest manager perhaps a score of times since the contest was announced a week ago. Since this question is still such a general one we will again repeat the important details of the big race.

The answer to the above question is a very simple one viz: "Get more votes than the other contestants in the race and you will be the winner of the automobile." There will be no favorites and all have exactly the same chances of winning any of the prizes offered. The votes are secured from the clipped coupons published in the Progress and from the subscriptions to the Progress. The votes will positively not be sold or issued in any other manner. The clipped coupons count five votes each for the candidate named on the face of them and they are to be turned in on or before the date thereon. The date on the coupons is changed each week.

The subscriptions, which are of course the principal means of securing the winning votes, are good for votes according to the length of time for which the subscriptions are paid and also whether they are new or old as stated in detail in yesterday's issue of the Progress.

What to Do.

The first thing to do is to enter the contest by means of the nomination blanks. The second thing to do is to let all of your friends know the details of the contest and the value of the prizes for which you are working. The third thing to do is to keep on enlarging your campaign and securing the votes. The subscriptions may be had anywhere and each candidate may have as many assistants and co-workers as they desire. There are absolutely no strings or other conditions of any kind to this generous offer of the Progress and no matter how small the number of votes a candidate has at the close of the contest, the prize called for by his or her rank in the final score sheet will be awarded as agreed.

Lemberg, Strongest Fortress of Austria, Goal of Russian Drive

50,000 Prisoners Taken by Czar's Troops—Pressure on Italian Front Relieved.

London, June 9.—(By United Press)—Capture of Lemberg, the great fortress and most important city of Austria-Hungary, believed to be the goal of the surging Czar's troops and the advance from Petrograd state the Russians pushed the Austrians back 25 miles after capturing Lutzk and after a brief pause were again in full swing [illegible] the Austrian armies on the east front in complete retreat.

The Russians now number Austrian prisoners at 50,000 and the total casualties of the Austrians at 200,000 for five days, now the beginning of the great offensive.

Pressure on the Italian front has been relieved. Today's Rome dispatches state the Italians have recovered several positions in the vicinity of Oboce and taken Austrian positions in the Lagarina valley. The only success for the teutons reported today was the capture of a French trench on the west front.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 9, 1916.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace shows left us a legacy of undesirable citizens who should be shown the shortest and quickest way out of town before they get into mischief.

No writer ever rose above the limitations of his proofreader. He may command the language from A to Z, and still be plunged into linguistic manslaughter by the gentle person who holds his reputation nicely balanced on the point of a neglected lead pencil.

The finance committee of the "Get Acquainted" tour is meeting with a fine spirit of helpfulness in its effort to raise a fund for the two day get-together trip. Everyone is helping the good cause along, and making it possible to count this year's trip a success far in advance of the date.

The boastful Spirit of Punxsutawney and the vaunting Express of DuBois are setting forth the claims of their respective baliwicks to the ownership of the roughest paved street in the world. Huh! We'd like them to see our Daisy street or Market street or Second street before they again boast of their exhibits of neglect.

ROOSEVELT OR MORE WILSON.

Nothing in the Chicago dispatches thus far indicates that there is the faintest hope of harmony between the Progressive and Republican conventions. It cannot be expected that Smoot, Penrose, Harding, and other leaders of the badly crippled "Old Guard" will agree to signalize their political extinction by welcoming Roosevelt as the bi-party candidate. Nor can one conceive of the Progressives, however sincere their desire for harmony, accepting the candidate who will be personally and politically O. K'd. by the stand-patters.

The situation is fraught with grave danger to both parties. The Progressives cannot afford another rupture and a third ticket. The country is in no humor for that kind of business, and it is not compatible with Roosevelt's poltical acumen to suppose that he will consent to head a third ticket. The Republicans cannot face the danger of estranging the great Roosevelt following by nominating a man who is not in sympathy with Progressive principles.

How the problem will be whipped out no man at this moment can tell, but the veriest tyro knows if the two conventions do not get together we are foredoomed to another incompetent Democratic administration.

TREES PLANTED BY MACHINE

Washington, June 9—A machine which plants from 10 to 15 thousand forest tree seedlings a day is now being used at the Letchworth Park Forest and Arboretum, in Wyoming County, N. Y., according to officials of the Forest Service who are acting as advisors in the work. Previously the planting has been done by hand at the rate of 1,200 to 1,500 trees each day per man.

The machine was designed to set out cabbage and tomato plants but works equally well with trees. It is about the size of an ordinary mowing machine and is operated by three men and two horse. One man drives the team while the other two handle the seedlings. The machine makes a furrow in which the trees are set at any desired distance, and an automatic device indicates where they should be dropped. Two metal tubes wheels push and roll the dirt firmly around the roots. This is a very essential feature as trees are apt to die if this is not well done. Two attachments make it possible to place water and fertilizer on the roots of each seedling. Another attachment marks the line on which the next row of trees is to be planted.

No cost figures are available but officials say that the cost was much less than when the planting is done by hand. But one machine can be used on which has been cleared and is rough to plow and harrow.

NOW NEW WOMEN DUE TO TANLAC REMEDY LAUDED

Mrs. Hegarty Surprised Tanlac Man By Remarkable Restoration to Complete Health

"Don't you know me, Mr. Kohsin?"

"I certainly do not. I never saw you before."

"Don't you remember the woman, that had to be half carried into Turner's Drug store six weeks ago, when you first came to Altoona, and bought a bottle of Tanlac?"

"Yes, I remember that incident."

"Well, I am that woman, Mrs. Hegarty. Then I was so sick from nervousness and sick stomach, that I could not walk a square without being assisted. Now I am strong and vigorous and in perfect health, after only taking three bottles of Tanlac. The doctors had said that I was a nervous wreck and never would be well again. Look at me now. I do not look as if I had ever been sick a day, so my friends and relatives say. I'll say they are telling the truth, because I am so happy over my recovery."

So said Mrs. H K. Hegarty of Bellwood, near Altoona, to Mr. Kohsin, the Tanlac man, at the Turner Drug company's store, 1116 Eleventh avenue, Altoona.

Mr. Kohsin stated that when Mrs. Hegarty came to the Turner store and bought a bottle of Tanlac, she was the sickest woman he had ever seen. Now she is the very picture of health

Tanlac is now sold in Clearfield exclusively by Woodward & McPherson, where the premier preparation can be had.

Big Demonstrations Follow Nomination Speeches at Chicago

Current Reports Indicates Agreement Has Been Reached--Hughes and Johnson Rumored as Re-united Party

SITUATION DECLARED HOPELESS TODAY

Chicago, June 9.—(By United Press)—Both the Republicans and the Progressives got the third day session of their respective conventions under way before noon today. There was no appearance of harmony. Many reports were current to indicate that some agreement may have been reached by the conference committees but it was certain they were not agreed on Roosevelt. One rumor was that Hughes for president and Hiram Johnson for vice president with Roosevelt's endorsement would be jammed through both conventions. This was belied by the attitude of the Progressive radicals. They were champing at the bit.

Immediately after the call to order they began consideration of a platform without awaiting the conference report. "Nominate Roosevelt as soon as we can," was the cry of some of them going to the convention. Others said the situation was hopeless and the best they could expect was a "dicker." Republicans expected to begin balloting late this afternoon after nomination of many favorite sons.

Weeks, Cummins, Fairbanks, Brumbaugh, Sherman and others were put forth by their respective supporters in a series of flowery speeches that put a night blooming cereus in the parsnip class. The Republicans planned to began balloting at about four o'clock. It was rumored that two ballots would be taken and the adjournment until tomorrow. Earlier reports and "Old Guard" belief is that unless Hughes is nominated on the second ballot he will not be nominated at all.

Indications of a deadlock were unquestionable.

Roosevelt's name was loudly cheered by the galleries and scattering applause among the delegates when Senator Smoot reported for the conference committee for the Republicans that the Progressives thought Colonel Roosevelt should be nominated. At the same time there was cheering when Chairman Perkins reported for the Progressive conference committee. Just a moment before Perkins came in a direct attack on the underseas policy of foreign powers was incorporated in the Progressive platform. Then chairman called for nominations.

Governor Whitman was recognized to nominate Hughes. Alabama had passed. Alaska passed and Arizona has submitted to New York. Mention of Taft brought the house to its feet for the first time in a great demonstration in which hats were waved. It lasted several minutes. Senator Smoot's report was received with deep attention but little enthusiasm. The convention went right to nominating. The Progressive committee reported a "friendly" conference but not agreement. At the name of Brumbaugh demonstrations did not come up to the expectations of his supporters. It lasted only a few minutes.

Allies Claim Majority

Hughes must be nominated on the second ballot or her cannot survive according to the belief of the "favorite sons" today. The first ballot will be more or less prefunctory, the allies claiming to hold the balance of power, 587 votes. Hughes is expected to get between 175 and 200 votes on this ballot and then will come the real fighting.

At the end of the first ballot 100 delegates will be released from voting for their favorite sons. Hughes' failure to land this strength, and the allies think this inevitable, the allies are then expected to try out several of their particular favorites, Sherman, Fairbanks and Weeks, while managers of Burton, Cummins, and other favorite sons declined to speak on the possibilty of this, it was understood that such an arrangement had been agreed upon.

The Burton crowd will try as early as the second ballot to divert some of the released delegates to the Ohioan and may make a determined effort on the third ballot at least for a strong support. Sherman's tactics in the fray the not known. He has been making a strong campaign and one which his managers say is beginning to show its effect.

T. R. May Turn to Root

Among the favorite sons it is freely admitted that things have been changed with the naming of peace candidate. Colonel Roosevelt, owing to his knowledge of Root's strong position on Americanism and preparedness, may turn his efforts to nominating the New Yorker. The allies believe balloting may begin at four o'clock this afternoon.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 9.—Colonel Roosevelt today told the newspaper correspondents, "I can see no change in the situation which will call me to Chicago." He is still keeping in touch with the situation.

Coliseum, Chicago, June 9.—Delegate Leon Weinberg of Maryland announced shortly before the convention met this afternoon that he would attempt to introduce a resolution inviting Colonel Roosevelt to come to Chicago and address it. This was the plan suggested by National Committeeman Jackson, of Maryland, to which Roosevelt replied yesterday.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, one of the Republican peace conferees received a wild ovation and was asked to make a speech when he arrived at the auditorium this afternoon. "I am here to get a little inspiration," said Borah. "I have not left the Republican party and I am not here in any official capacity." Borah took the platform and was greeted with cries of "Now come on home Bill!"

After the nomination of Hughes there was a demonstration for Hughes lasting twenty minutes. Then President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia university, put for nomination the name of Elihu Root. The Root demonstration laster fourteen minutes. Senator Burton's name was next put in for nomination and a Burton demonstration began which is now on.

The Progressives have recessed until three o'clock.

Hughes Still Silent.

Washington, June 9.—(By United Press)—Justice Hughes refused absolutely to see anyone or to authorize any kind of statement from his secretary this afternoon. When the latter was informed by telephone that the Justice's name had been put in nomination at Chicago by Governor Whitman. "Justice Hughes has nothing to say," said the secretary.

"Does he know he has been nominated?"

"Yes, "I told him," replied Greene. "He has nothing to say and will have nothing to say, as I told you yesterday, until he is nominated by the convention."

"Then he will speak if he is nominated?"

"I don't know."

Hughes was in his library just having finished lunch when he was told of Governor Whitman's action.

AMERICANS GIVE VERDICT IN THE ARMENIAN QUESTION

Press Reports Are Totally Unjust to the Turks

(Written for United Press)

Constantinople, May 9.—(By Mail)—The American people have given their verdict in the Armenian question without hearing the Turkish side.

Consequently, there are in the American press and public opinion ideas totally unjust to the Turks.

In order to understand the situation rightly, one has to know, first of all, that historically the Turks were the most humane conquering race imaginable.

At a time when they had every opportunity of assimilating the conquered races by force, they gave them freedom of religion, language, and free community organization.

Had the Turks behaved as the Spaniards have against dissenters in religion or race, there would be no Armenians and no Armenian question today.

After the Youn-Turkish revolution in 1908, the Christians acquired absolute equality with the Turks.

Their revolutionary activity under the reign of the former Sultan was ascribed to their desire for equal rights of citizenship. It soon became clear that they thought of equal rights only as a means to the end of a national independent existence.

Instead of taking advantage of the new opportunity they had to become lawful Ottoman citizens, they established secret societies, made a large revolutionary organization in the country and distributed arms and bombs among their members.

The first duty of every state is to insure its independence. Therefore, Turkey had to resort to all the necessary measures for this important end.

Among the non-Turkish races the Armenians were the nearest to the Turks in regard to their spoken language and social habits.

Several decades ago, when they had not yet begun their revolutionary activity, they enjoyed the full confidence of the Turks, and they were always called by the Turkish press "our faithful fellow-citizens, the Armenians."

In abusing the confidence of the Turks, the Armenians went further than the other Christian races.

Especially, during the present war, they did not shrink from open treason, and tried to endanger from within the existence of their country, which was engaged in a fight for life or death at four different fronts, with powerful enemies, and caused the new Armenian troubles.

Lone Robber Attempts Hold-Up Of Curwensville National Bank; Paying Teller Hoover Injured

Walks Into Bank at Noon Hour, Armed With Two Revolvers---Loses Nerve And Fails to Get Money

PLUCKY BOY ASSISTS IN MAN'S CAPTURE

Armed with two revolvers, one of them an automatic, and with his face blackened with soot, H. L. Downing, of Tyrone, walked boldly into the Curwensville National bank shortly after noon today and in a bungling attempt at a hold-up shot Paying Teller H. M. Hoover in the face. Downing fled when the shot was fired, and was captured a few moments later by Deputy Sheriff Chaplin and Guy Clark son of the chief of police of Curwensville.

Downing attempted his hold-up at an hour when normally there would have been no one but the bank attaches in the building. Today, however, there were two persons in the lobby, a colored woman and a boy. President Russell was in his private office to the right of the entrance, conversing with a friends and Cashier Hile and Teller Hoover behind the grating.

Downing crowded by the woman and the boy, pushed open the door leading behind the counter, and levelled both revolvers at Hile, who was standing across the room in front of the vault. Not a word was uttered by the would-be hold-up man. Hile turned toward him and demanded to know what he meant, moving toward the robber. Downing made no effort to fire at Hile, who grappled with him and attempted to wrest the revolvers from his grasp. Hoover joined in the struggle, and siezed one of Downing's wrists, turning the point of the revolver upward. It was then that Downing cut loose at Hoover the ball striking him at the corner of the mouth and ripping open his cheek.

As soon as the shot was fired Downing broke from Hile and Hoover and ran out of the building and around the corner. Guy Clark witnessed his flight from a store across the street, and immediately set out after Downing, commanding him to stop.

Downing turned and menaced Clark with his revolvers, whereupon Clark fired at him, and in the chase which followed he emptied his gun at Downing. Downing directed his way toward the Pennsylvania station, where he ran full tilt into Deputy Sheriff Chaplin, who was waiting for a train.

Chaplin took in the situation, and commanded Downing to halt. Instead of obeying Downing turned his gun on Chaplin. Clark run up then, and cried to Downing "stop Jack, I'm going to let you have it."

Hemmed in, Downing slowly lowered his revolvers, and while Chaplin covered him Clark took the weapons away from him. He was then marched to the borough lockup, where a little soap and water revealed him as a white man.

Downing declares that he was alone in the hold-up, but the police and others believe the job to have been the work of an automobile party of four which was seen to enter the town immediately preceding the hold-up. The machine came up from Clearfield, and was occupied by four men clad in caps and linen dusters, as if equipped for a long tour.

As soon as it turned the church corner on the road to DuBois the machine slowed up, and it is believed that Downing alighted at the corner near the Pennsylvania tracks, put on his make-up, and approached the bank through an alley running thru the center of the block. He was seen by the telephone operator making his way through the alley, and the machine disappeared from view.

Downing is a heavy set, florid faced man of about forty-eight or forty. He was roughly dressed in woods men's boots, a flannel shirt and dark trousers, which showed signs of wear. He declares that the name he gave the police is his right name, and that he has a wife and several children living in Tyrone. Inquiry there this afternoon failed to locate anyone who knew the man.

Sheriff McCloskey and Chief of Police McHenry trained to Curwensville a few minutes after the hold-up. The sheriff immediately took up the trail of the mysterious touring car, and had not been heard from at press time. He went toward DuBois in which direction the machine is supposed to have gone.

Downing will be brought to the county jail this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Chaplin, where he will be held for trial on the charge of robbery. In the lockup this afternoon he broke down and sobbed violently crying out that he was sorry for the man he shot.

Mr. Hoover is not believed to be seriously wounded, although the bullet has not yet been located. Five teeth were knocked out, and his face badly lacerated. Later in the afternoon Mr. Hoover was removed to the Clearfield hospital.

BORDER RAIDERS EXECUTED

CANDIDATES FILE EXPENSE ACCOUNTS

Several Candidates Spend Large Sums in Primary

The candidates at the May primaries have been busy for the past several days filing their expense accounts encountered in the campaigning. Some of the candidates spent cosiderable money, while others got through with less than fifty dollars. One of the accounts of interest was that of R. B. Thompson, who filed for the Committee of Citizens, the Boulton-Woodward expense. There was shown a total expenditure of $700. The list of the contributors to the Citizen's committee is given as follows; J. P. O'Laughlin $325, S. J. Mountz $200, John C. Forsythe, $150, S. M. Free, $25.

A. S. Moulthrop spent all of his own money, his expenses aggregating $99.50, while A. H. Woodward paid out a total of $25.35. Harry Boulton expended the sum of $371.11. Jos. Phillips and the remaining number of the legislative candidates expended less than $50.

For National delegate, W. I. Swoope expended a sum totaling $538.39. His colleague A. H. Gaffney of Kane, paid out $205.34. Arnold and Mayo spent less than $50.

GRAND AWARDS AWAITS THE WINNERS

ORATORICAL GOLD MEDAL CONTEST IS LARGELY ATTENDED

Osceola Boy Is Awarded Medal From W.C.T.U. For Prize Oration On Temperance

Seven Contestants Compete for Prize At Presbyterian Church Last Evening—Rev. McCurdy Makes Presentation Speech.

There was a very good attendance at the Presbyterian church last evening to hear the Oratorical Gold Medal contest which was conducted by Mrs. F. H. McCully of Osceola, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The contest was one of the best ever held in the county and the orations were far above the average, the seven contestants deserving a great deal of honor for the splendid manner in which they delivered their speeches and handled their subjects.

The meeting opened with singing of America by the congregation and prayer by Rev. B. J. Hummel of the United Brethren church which was followed by "The Slumber Song" most beautifully rendered by Mrs. E. C. Reeve, Mrs. E. E. Jimeson, Miss Lois Denning and Miss Anna Norris. Mrs. McCully then read selections apropos to the subject of temperance from the scriptures.

The seven contestants who were all from Osceola excepting Bernard Caldwell who was from Lumber City, then gave most interesting and at intervals very pathetic recitals which were delivered in fine style and which held the close attention of the entire audience with the vigor and earnestness of their oratory.

Bernard Caldwell was the first contestant to speak, taking as his subject the "Resubmissionists Story" which was a sad tale of the death of a son who had been misled by wrong advice and example of a drunken father. "The Liquor Traffic Should be Outlawed" by Philip C. Hall treated the legal side of the temperance question and gave reasons for legislation stopping the traffic.

"Prohibition and Personal Liberty" by Herbert Glasco, "official Anarchy" by Harry Mattern, "In the Shadows of the Mountains" by James Scott and "America's War Cry" by Howard Reams were all well delivered and contained very strong arguments in favor of the elimination of the liquor traffic.

"The Man of the Hour" by Paul Mattern was awarded the Gold Medal by the judges, Rev. Allenbach, Matthew Savage and B. M. Fast. Mr. Mattern brought most forcibly to the appreciative audience what is meant by "The Man of the Hour." The medal

The big race is on. The real battle of the ballots in the Progress great automobile contest is now starting. For the first time in the history of journalistic enterprises in Clearfield, or in fact in this section of the state, a fine five passenger touring car, a $400 upright piano, three standard cabinet Victrolas and a number of other attractive and valuable prizes hang in the balance to be won without cost by the popular individuals who have entered or who are yet to enter this high class event.

The value of the prizes offered by the Progress in this public spirited enterprise that is now getting under way is $1,400.00. That is a pile of money but all of this amount represented by the prizes named is to be distributed to those who take part in the campaign and the winners of these awards are to be named by their friends as stated in the recent issues of the Progress.

How to Win.

"What must I do to win the automobile or any of the other prizes?" Such is the question that has been asked the contest manager perhaps a score of times since the contest was announced a week ago. Since this question is still such a general one we will again repeat the important details of the big race.

The answer to the above question is a very simple one viz: "Get more votes than the other contestants in the race and you will be the winner of the automobile." There will be no favorites and all have exactly the same chances of winning any of the prizes offered. The votes are secured from the clipped coupons published in the Progress and from the subscriptions to the Progress. The votes will positively not be sold or issued in any other manner. The clipped coupons count five votes each for the candidate named on the face of them and they are to be turned in on or before the date thereon. The date on the coupons is changed each week.

The subscriptions, which are of course the principal means of securing the winning votes, are good for votes according to the length of time for which the subscriptions are paid and also whether they are new or old as stated in detail in yesterday's issue of the Progress.

What to Do.

The first thing to do is to enter the contest by means of the nomination blanks. The second thing to do is to let all of your friends know the details of the contest and the value of the prizes for which you are working. The third thing to do is to keep on enlarging your campaign and securing the votes. The subscriptions may be had anywhere and each candidate may have as many assistants and co-workers as they desire. There are absolutely no strings or other conditions of any kind to this generous offer of the Progress and no matter how small the number of votes a candidate has at the close of the contest, the prize called for by his or her rank in the final score sheet will be awarded as agreed.

Lemberg, Strongest Fortress of Austria, Goal of Russian Drive

50,000 Prisoners Taken by Czar's Troops—Pressure on Italian Front Relieved.

London, June 9.—(By United Press)—Capture of Lemberg, the great fortress and most important city of Austria-Hungary, believed to be the goal of the surging Czar's troops and the advance from Petrograd state the Russians pushed the Austrians back 25 miles after capturing Lutzk and after a brief pause were again in full swing [illegible] Austrian armies on the east front in complete retreat.

The Russians now number Austrian prisoners at 50,000 and the total casualties of the Austrians at 200,000 for the war, now the beginning of the great offensive.

Pressure on the Italian front has been relieved. Today's Rome dispatches state the Italians have recovered several positions in the vicinity of Oboce and taken Austrian positions in the Lagarina valley. The only success for the teutons reported today was the capture of a French trench on the west front.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 9, 1916.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace shows left us a legacy of undesirable citizens who should be shown the shortest and quickest way out of town before they get into mischief.

No writer ever rose above the limitations of his proofreader. He may command the language from A to Z, and still be plunged into linguistic manslaughter by the gentle person who holds his reputation nicely balanced on the point of a neglected lead pencil.

The finance committee of the "Get Acquainted" tour is meeting with a fine spirit of helpfulness in its effort to raise a fund for the two day get-together trip. Everyone is helping the good cause along, and making it possible to count this year's trip a success far in advance of the date.

The boastful Spirit of Punxsutawney and the vaunting Express of DuBois are setting forth the claims of their respective baliwicks to the ownership of the roughest paved street in the world. Huh! We'd like them to see our Daisy street or Market street or Second street before they again boast of their exhibits of neglect.

ROOSEVELT OR MORE WILSON.

Nothing in the Chicago dispatches thus far indicates that there is the faintest hope of harmony between the Progressive and Republican conventions. It cannot be expected that Smoot, Penrose, Harding, and other leaders of the badly crippled "Old Guard" will agree to signalize their political extinction by welcoming Roosevelt as the bi-party candidate. Nor can one conceive of the Progressives, however sincere their desire for harmony, accepting the candidate who will be personally and politically O. K'd. by the stand-patters.

The situation is fraught with grave danger to both parties. The Progressives cannot afford another rupture and a third ticket. The country is in no humor for that kind of business, and it is not compatible with Roosevelt's poltical acumen to suppose that he will consent to head a third ticket. The Republicans cannot face the danger of estranging the great Roosevelt following by nominating a man who is not in sympathy with Progressive principles.

How the problem will be whipped out no man at this moment can tell, but the veriest tyro knows if the two conventions do not get together we are foredoomed to another incompetent Democratic administration.

TREES PLANTED BY MACHINE

Washington, June 9—A machine which plants from 10 to 15 thousand forest tree seedlings a day is now being used at the Letchworth Park Forest and Arboretum, in Wyoming County, N. Y., according to officials of the Forest Service who are acting as advisors in the work. Previously the planting has been done by hand at the rate of 1,200 to 1,500 trees each day per man.

The machine was designed to set out cabbage and tomato plants but works equally well with trees. It is about the size of an ordinary mowing machine and is operated by three men and two horses. One man drives the team while the other two handle the seedlings. The machine makes a furrow in which the trees are set at any desired distance, and an automatic device indicates where they should be dropped. Two metal tubes wheels push and roll the dirt firmly around the roots. This is a very essential feature as small trees are apt to die if this is not well done. Two attachments make it possible to place water and fertilizer on the roots of each seedling. Another attachment marks the line on which the next row of trees is to be planted.

No cost figures are available but officials say that the cost was much less than when the planting is done by hand. The tractor on the machine can be used on hillsides which has been considered too rough to plow and harrow.

NOW NEW WOMEN DUE TO TANLAC REMEDY LAUDED

Mrs. Hegarty Surprised Tanlac Man By Remarkable Restoration to Complete Health

"Don't you know me, Mr. Kohsin?"

"I certainly do not. I never saw you before."

"Don't you remember the woman, that had to be half carried into Turner's Drug store six weeks ago, when you first came to Altoona, and bought a bottle of Tanlac?"

"Yes, I remember that incident."

"Well, I am that woman, Mrs. Hegarty. Then I was so sick from nervousness and sick stomach, that I could not walk a square without being assisted. Now I am strong and vigorous and in perfect health, after only taking three bottles of Tanlac. The doctors had said that I was a nervous wreck and never would be well again. Look at me now. I do not look as if I had ever been sick a day, so my friends and relatives say. I'll say they are telling the truth, because I am so happy over my recovery."

So said Mrs. H K. Hegarty of Bellwood, near Altoona, to Mr. Kohsin, the Tanlac man, at the Turner Drug company's store, 1116 Eleventh avenue, Altoona.

Mr. Kohsin stated that when Mrs. Hegarty came to the Turner store and bought a bottle of Tanlac, she was the sickest woman he had ever seen. Now she is the very picture of health

Tanlac is now sold in Clearfield exclusively by Woodward & McPherson, where the premier preparation can be had.
